In this meeting, we again reviewed the results/progress of our past codesprint. We explained the features we integrated and were working on, and discussed potential tasks for our net set of sprints, as well as coordinated features that were dependent on each other. We finally decided on the deliverables that we were planning on showing for project milestone 3.